

🌙 While you sleep, gentle care for your hands

For sensitive, dry, or itchy skin

Developed by pediatric and allergy specialist doctors
— Hand-care gloves for delicate skin

Made in Japan

Yuishin Inc. has developed “Naottene” and “Mamottene” hand-care gloves, created by pediatric and allergy specialist doctors who wanted to gently protect the delicate hands of children and adults suffering from dry, itchy, or eczema-prone skin such as atopic dermatitis.

Many people with rough or dry skin tend to scratch unconsciously during sleep, which often makes their symptoms worse.

These gloves were designed as a new way to “moisturize comfortably while sleeping,” allowing hand care to naturally fit into everyday life.

The soft fabric gently prevents scratching caused by itching or irritation while keeping hands well moisturized.

Through the night, hands stay smooth and hydrated — gentle care for anyone with dry or sensitive skin.

It’s an easy and soothing bedtime hand-care habit for both children and parents to continue together.

Many users have reported that their hand itchiness improved after using the gloves!

It is said that the skin of children under seven years old is less than half as thick as that of adults.

Because of this, even minor irritation or dryness can easily cause skin troubles such as bumps and itching.

Especially during the dry autumn and winter seasons, many children scratch their skin so much that it worsens, leading to further irritation.

In our user survey, 77% of respondents reported that their hand itchiness improved after using the gloves compared to before use.
